TITLE OF THE PRACTICE-2:

“Health Awareness Practices”(Service to Humanity: A bridge between HEI and Society)

OBJECTIVES OF THE PRACTICE:

1. To understand the social responsibilities and play the roles to serve them.
2. To spread health awareness in the society.
3. To instill in the students of the institute the spirit of service to the mankind.
4. To help the health workers time-to-time.
5. To contribute in the health-related programmes organized by the different departments of the government.

THE CONTEXT:

The institute understands its social duties and obligations, so it conducts various projects that do social services to society and to the mankind. The institute conducts a ‘Health Awareness Project. The students of the institute participate in many health-related programmes. The institute has a Youth Red Cross Unit. The institute organizes health camps. The students of the institute spread awareness in their villages also. They report the activities to the incharge teacher of the project. The NSS Cadets of the college also plan and execute health related activities in the villages that adopted for the NSS activities. The record of all the activities under the project was kept by the incharge teacher. The photographs of the health related programmes are also kept by the incharge teacher. Whenever any special activity is organised by the institute, a team of staff members conduct all the activities. The institute keeps on conducting the health awareness programmes under the project. The institute has Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Patan Hospital. Sometimes whenever the hospital authority needs the help of the students of the institute, the students participate in the health related programmes organized by the Patan Hospital.

THE PRACTICE:

With regard to the health issues, our aim is to keep a continuous practice to create an awareness in the stakeholdersto be health aware citizens. There are diseases like anemia, sickle cell, stomach worm, leprosy etc. that affect the areas near the institute. The institute organizes activities like awareness rallies, wall slogan writing, essay competition, quiz competition to create awareness about keeping good health. The YRC unit of the institute organizes general health check-up camp, anti-worm tablet distribution camp, blood-group checking camp, nutrition awareness programs, leprosy awareness programmes etc. The red-ribbon, the blue-brigade and the NSS units of the institute organize invited lectures also to create awareness about many health-related issues. During the covid-19 Pandemic period also, the students of the institute participated in the health-related programmes by following the Covid-19 Pandemic rules and protocols. The participated in the vaccination drive programmes. They also participated in the awareness creating activities about the pandemic.
